

DOJ releases IG report on Clinton emails

/news/nation-world/watchdog-sees-errors-not-bias-in-comeys-clinton-probe

Read the report

Watchdog sees errors

ADVERTISEMENT

Kalispell wraps up Rail to Trail design week

by Mackenzie Dougherty
Friday, June 8th 2018

trail.jpeg

(/news/local/gallery/kalispell-wraps-up-rail-to-trail-design-week#photo-2) 61°
MAIL TRENDING

(/news/local/gallery/kalispell-wraps-up-rail-to-trail-design-week#photo-1)

VIEW PHOTO GALLERY

 3 photos (/news/local/gallery/kalispell-wraps-up-rail-to-trail-design-week)

AA

f

(mailto:?subject=A%20link%20for%20you)

After a week of receiving comments on the project from the community the project team created some preliminary designs. The three designs they had people vote on were a historic trail, a contemporary trail and a natural trail.

They showcased the designs for the public at Kalispell Center Mall on Friday.

Rail to Trail and Complete Street project manager Mary Stewart told NBC Montana they will take the comments they receive Friday and come up with a final draft design for the public to comment on at events throughout the summer.

"That preferred design concept will be going around, and we will be getting feedback through that process, so looking for potential refinements to the preferred design from the community from the feedback we receive," said Stewart.

In August Stewart said they will submit a report and final design to the city.

They hope to start building in 2019.

For more information on the Rail to Trail project click here. \(http://www.kalispellcoreandrail.com/news/kalispell-trail-and-complete-street-project\)